

Use of University Facilities by Individuals and On-Campus Groups of the Center for Black Culture

By resolution of the University Board of Trustees, the University campus and facilities are special purpose buildings and grounds and not open to the public generally. Affirming this resolution, the Center for Black Culture adopted the following procedure for permitting guests and visitors to visit the Center for Black Culture.

1. An invited guest is a person who has received an invitation to visit the Center for Black Culture by the University, a University department or a member of the University for a specific occasion, conference, special function, tour, or official visit or program taking place in the Center.
2. Guests who are invited by a member of the University to visit the Center for Black Culture as described above are limited to the specific occasion for which they were invited. Guests must be accompanied by a host while in the Center.
3. A visitor is a person who occasionally uses the Center for Black Culture services and facilities but who has not been invited to do so.
4. An individual making regular and repeated use of the Center for Black Culture and its immediate environs (patio and parking lot) will not be regarded as an invited guest or visitor.
5. Center for Black Culture staff are encouraged, when in their judgment such action is necessary, to ask anyone in the Center for Black Culture for identification and information about their business in the Center for Black Culture or its environs.
6. Center for Black Culture staff shall close off, when in their judgment such action is necessary, certain portions of the Center for Black Culture to nonmembers of the University.
7. Center for Black Culture staff may ask individuals who don't qualify as guests or visitors (as defined above) to leave the Center for Black Culture and its environs. Individuals who refuse to comply may be subject to arrest.
