

Publishing

Entry Level Positions

Editorial Assistant, Researcher, Administrative Assistant, Production Assistant, Editorial Trainee, Proof-reader/Fact Checker, Publicity Assistant, Copywriter.

Where You'll Work

A career in publishing involves working for a book publisher, newspaper or magazine. Publishing houses and magazines also have departments devoted to sales, publicity, legal issues, art and more.

Graduate and Special Programs

New York University, Pace, Columbia University, Drexel, Arizona State, and Emerson offer masters degrees in publishing. There are also several special certificate programs in book publishing such as the one at Radcliffe, University of Denver, and NYU. (gradschools.com)

Internships/Volunteer Work

(www.udel.edu/CSC/intern.html) -- attend a eRecruiting Orientation session to learn how to access internships through eRecruiting.com.

University of Delaware Press, Caesura (U.D. Literary Magazine), Word Dance (children's magazine), Delaware Today, News Journal, Big Shout (Magazine), Messenger (alumni magazine) and the Review.

Websites and Resources

www.bookwire.com (News and information about book publishing)

www.CopyEditorJobs.com

www.futurenet.com/futureonline/jobs/default.asp

www.writerswrite.com/jobs/jobs.html

www.iwantmedia.com/jobs

www.authorlink.com/

www.publishersweekly.com

www.printstaff.com

www.bbboston.org

Career Resource Center

“Current Jobs in Writing, Editing, and Communication”

Monthly listing of positions for new graduates. Passcode may be obtained for web access.

National Internship Directories list publishing internships in Experiential (EXR) section.

Career Books: Career Opportunities in Magazine Publishing; Careers in Focus-Publishing; Opportunities in Publishing Careers; Careers for Bookworms & Other Literary Types.