

Greater Philadelphia Philosophy Consortium 2008-2009

PUBLIC ISSUES FORUM: WAR CRIMES AND JUST WAR THEORY

The event is sponsored by the Board of Governors of the GPPC and Drexel University's College of Arts and Sciences, and Drexel University's Earle Mack School of Law.

Saturday, April 25, 2009 1:00 to 5:00pm Room 140, Earle Mack Law School, 3320 Market Street, Drexel University, University City Campus.

SPEAKERS:

Larry May, Washington University, Saint Louis - "Collective Responsibility in Warfare"

Robert D. Sloane, Boston University School of Law - "The Cost of Conflation: The Dualism of Jus ad Bellum and Jus in Bello in the Contemporary Law of War"

Peter Tramel, United States Military Academy at West Point - "Conscientious Objection and Volunteer Military Service"

CHAIR AND COORDINATOR: M. G. Piety, Drexel University

A reception will immediately follow the conference. A banquet will be held later in the evening. If you wish to attend the banquet, please contact M. G. Piety at mgpiety@drexel.edu.

Beginning in October there will be a reading group that will meet once per month to discuss Professor May's book War Crimes and Just War (Cambridge University Press, 2007). The group will meet at Drexel's Earle Mack School of Law. Those interested in participating in the reading group should contact M. G. Piety at mgpiety@drexel.edu.