

HISTORY WORKSHOP

in TECHNOLOGY, SOCIETY and CULTURE

The Department of History
announces a luncheon talk

by

Kim Phillips-Fein

New York University

Going Right: Thoughts on Writing the History of the Conservative Movement

Ever since the 1980s, historians have been thinking about the rise of the Right. What does the conservative ascendancy mean for how we think about the history of the twentieth century? And what does it tell us about the direction of the twenty-first? This talk will look at the major trends in writing the history of the Right, and ask what questions remain.

Tuesday, November 10, 2009

12:30-1:45 p.m.

203 John Munroe Hall

This workshop is free and open to the public.

Please come and bring your lunch!