

Bio:

Peter Bach Andersen has a M.Sc. in Informatics and is currently working as a PhD student at the Technical University of Denmark. He is heavily involved in the EDISON project and his focus is on the standards and protocols that will connect EV, User, Market and Grid via an vehicle aggregator and on the prediction and optimization which is part of the aggregators operation.