

Partnership for Learning (P4L) Conference
Amman, Jordan
February 19-21, 2007

Ayser Abu Ghnaim is an English teacher at Medmar School in Ayn Al Basha with the Jordan Ministry of Education. He graduated with a BA degree in English Literature from the University of Jordan in 1997 and also has an ICDL certificate. Ayser is the Ministry Coordinator for World Links Program in Ayn al Basha, Jordan.

Balgees Abu Assali is an EFL teacher at Balgees Language Center in Sweida, Syria where she teaches all ages. She has a BA degree in English Literature from Damascus University.

Debra Detzel has been teaching ESL for nearly 20 years. Her experience includes teaching in public schools, immigrant and refugee programs, university classes, and teacher training programs. Debra is the Assistant Director, English Language Institute, University of Delaware.

Ghada Sari teaches English in grades 9 and 10 at UNRWA schools. She has been teaching English for 13 years. Ghada graduated with a BA degree in English Language and Literature from Yarmouk University, Irbid in 1992.

Hadeel Hussein has been teaching English in grades 7, 9 and 10 at UNRWA school for the past two years. She graduated with a BA degree in English Literature from the University of Jordan.

Hanan Awwad Al-Rahhal is an English teacher at Fatima Al-Zahraa Secondary School in Marj Al-Hamman, Amman under the Directorate of Education and Military Culture. Hanan has been teaching English for six years and has a BA degree in English Literature from the University of Jordan. Her interests are reading, sports and teaching.

Hussein Al-Otoume is an English Language teacher in the Directorate of Education and Military Culture. He has been teaching English for five years in the military primary and secondary schools. Hussein has a BA degree in modern languages from Yarmouk University and an ICDL and Intel license for using technology in teaching.

Jihan Diwan is an English teacher at the High Institute of Languages and other private Institutes. She graduated with a BA degree in English Literature from Aleppo Univeristy in 1994. Jihan also earned a Diploma in Literary High Studies in 1995 and a Diploma in Translation in 1998.

Kassem Al-Tarras is an English teacher and a publisher in Damascus, Syria. Kassem teaches young adults and adults at Al-Sharia Secondary school and at other private Institutes. He has a BA degree in English Literature from the University of Damascus.

Mahda Muhaisen is an English language teacher at UNRWA schools at Baqa Elementary Girls School/3. She has been teaching English since 1997 at private schools and since 2002 at the UNRWA schools where she teaches English to beginning students. Mahda has an MA degree in Curriculum and English teaching methodology from the University of Jordan.

Muayad Ahmad Al-Toubat is an English Language teacher with the Ministry of Education, Jordan. Muayad has a BA degree in English Language and Literature from Irbid National University and is currently working on his MA degree in Applied Linguistics. He has been teaching English in primary and secondary schools since 1999.

Ola Abdo teaches grades nine and ten at UNRWA schools. She has been teaching English for six years. Ola graduated with a BA degree in English Literature from Muttah University in Kirak, Jordan.

Ruba Mamoud Al-Sadi is an English teacher at Ein Jaloot School for girls in the Ministry of Education. She has been teaching English for 14 years in both public and private schools. Ruba has a BA degree in English Literature, and a Diploma in Teaching Methodology from the University of Jordan.

Shadi Al- Najjar has been teaching English for seven years. He teaches at the UNRWA schools where he has conducted several workshops and demonstration lessons for newly appointed teachers. He graduated with a BA degree in English Literature from Muttah University in Kerak, Jordan

Sophie Lawrence Sammour graduated from Bethlehem University with a BA degree in English Literature and a Diploma in Education. She has been teaching EFL for more than ten years and is now teaching at The National Orthodox School, Shmeisani. She is also an assistant for the Head of section (7-10). In March 2005 she ran a workshop about Humanizing English Classrooms.