

2011-2012 INTERNAL TRANSFER APPLICATION AND PROCEDURES APPAREL DESIGN MAJOR

Department of Fashion and Apparel Studies
College of Arts & Science
University of Delaware

WHEN CAN I APPLY AS AN INTERNAL TRANSFER?

Applications are reviewed once each semester and completed applications should be submitted to the Department of Fashion & Apparel Studies, 211 Alison Hall West by the following dates:

- Spring Admissions: submit your application by September 15th and you will be notified of the outcome by September 30th.
- Fall Admissions: submit your application by February 15th and you will be notified of the outcome by February 28th.

WHAT MATERIALS DO I NEED TO SUBMIT?

- Completed Apparel Design Application Form (see attached)
- Copy of your unofficial transcript
- Portfolio (helps us evaluate your potential through examples of your art, design, and/or fashion work. It must include samples from FASH122 and 5-10 well-organized examples of your work with media labels and short project descriptions. This may include samples of garments you have sewn, and/or designed, such as; illustrations, sketches, paintings, computer graphics, and/or other 2D and 3D work. Although a variety of work is helpful, it is not essential.

Please be aware that applications not containing all required materials will not be considered.

HOW WILL MY APPLICATION BE EVALUATED?

Apparel Design is a restricted major which means that the number of spaces available for internal transfers will vary by semester and we may not be able to offer admission to internal transfers during some semesters. A faculty committee will review your application based on the following criteria:

- Academic Merit (2.0 GPA and above, grade in FASH 122 which must be completed prior to applying for transfer)
- Quality of portfolio
- Seniority (e.g., juniors will have priority over sophomores, etc.)

WHAT ELSE DO I NEED TO KNOW ABOUT TRANSFERING INTO APPAREL DESIGN?

Be sure you refer to the most recent curriculum requirement sheet for a summary of course requirements and offerings. You are required to complete all requirements for the major and some courses are not offered each semester. Therefore, graduation from the university within four years may not be possible for internal transfers. Before applying, you should meet with Pat Brinley (831-8714) to determine whether you will be able to graduate within an acceptable timeframe. If accepted, you will be required to complete an electronic change of major form and will be assigned a faculty academic advisor. It will be very important to meet with your advisor at least once a semester to review your academic progress and to stay on track for graduation (see attached guidelines).

Guidelines for Apparel Design Majors

1. It is critical that you work closely with your faculty advisor and regularly monitor your academic progress by reviewing your audit in UDSIS. This will insure proper progress towards graduation.
2. Many courses in the Apparel Design major are sequential and must be taken one before another. In other words, it is not possible to take sequential classes at the same time. For example, 122, 221, 314, 324, 424 and 433 must all be taken in sequence and in separate semesters.
3. Additional pre-requisites are listed in the catalog. Be sure to keep in touch with the best advice by attending advisement meetings and working with your advisor in the planning of your schedule.
4. If you are planning on applying for the program at FIT, you need to pick up all the information from the department office and begin planning early. Note that the schedule for apparel design students is quite different from the schedule for fashion merchandising students. Apparel design students attend FIT the spring of their senior year and the following fall semester. This means it takes a minimum of 4.5 years to graduate. If this is your intention, you must plan your schedule carefully. Meet with your advisor during your sophomore year to discuss and plan for this path.
5. FASH 424, Apparel Collection Development and FASH 433, Product Development and Management Studio are considered the area's 'capstone' experiences and are taken during the senior year. They must be taken in separate semesters. FASH 424 is only offered in the fall and FASH 433 is only offered in the spring. Careful planning and meeting all pre-requisites in a timely way is critical. Some students may need to stay an additional semester in order to meet all requirements if courses are not taken at the correct time in their program.
6. If you are a transfer student, you may not be able to complete the program in a total of four years. Most transfer students who enter the program after the sophomore year will need to stay an additional year at minimum. Again, careful planning with your advisor is critical.
7. Study abroad experiences are recommended and many are offered during Winter sessions. If you choose to study abroad for a semester, this is also an exceptional experience, but requires early planning in order to meet all requirements of our program and graduate within four years.

I have read the above. I understand that deviating from these guidelines may require an extension of my program, by an additional semester or two.
