Governor's School is a week-long residential program sponsored by the Office of the Governor of Delaware that provides traditional and non-traditional college level education, leadership training, and social activities for academically and artistically gifted rising eleventh graders. Students live in University dorms, eat at the dining hall, and participate in a stimulating, educational experience.

Where? University of Delaware, Newark

When? Sunday, July 19 – Saturday, July 24, 2009

How to Apply:

We encourage talented students entering eleventh grade in Fall 2009 to apply. Applicants must reside in the state of Delaware. Governor's School is a shared experience for its participants, including intensive training and practice in your chosen specialty.

Visual & Performing Arts Programs General Information for Students

Detailed instructions on how to apply and participate in the selection process for the Visual and Performing Arts programs at the 2009 Governor's School for Excellence are outlined in the following pages. Read these directions carefully and fully prepare in advance for the Audition or Group Interview. There are seven (7) Visual and Performing Arts programs offered as part of the 2009 Governor's School for Excellence:

MUSIC: (30-32 students)

Choral Music
Brass
Piano/Percussion
Woodwinds
Strings

THEATRE (8-10 students)

VISUAL ARTS--Painting and Drawing (8-10 students)

You may only apply to one (1) of these seven (7) programs.

Each school may nominate up to eight (8) students in the music categories, two (2) students in theatre, and two (2) students in visual arts. Nominees are generally selected by arts-related teachers, guidance counselors, or the principal based on their talent and previous experience. Nominations are only accepted when accompanied by the Principal Nomination Form. Do not send in an application form independently.

The selection process for Governor's School is highly competitive. There is space for only one accepted student for every 4-6 students who are nominated by their school. Acceptance to any of the arts programs is based on performance criteria, and judges include University faculty members, instructors, and outside experts in the arts.

Nominees must bring their own music to the audition. The vocal instructor will act as the accompanist during the auditions.
