Whereas, there is increasing local and national demand for psychiatric/mental health services and a shortage of qualified mental health providers;

Whereas, the national accreditation standards for advanced practice psychiatric nurses have substantially changed such that existing specialization does not permit students to seek national certification or state licensure;

Be it resolved, a new concentration in Family Psychiatric/Mental Health Nurse Practitioner be added.

List new courses required for the new or revised curriculum. How do they support the overall program objectives of the major/minor/concentrations)?

(Be aware that approval of the curriculum is dependent upon these courses successfully passing through the Course Challenge list. If there are no new courses enter "None")

Potential for increased enrollment (approximately 12 students per year) in EDUC 655 Statistics.

Describe the rationale for the proposed program change(s):

(Explain your reasons for creating, revising, or deleting the curriculum or program.)

The demand for mental health providers, particularly those with the ability to prescribe, has never been greater. There is both a regional and national need for increased access to affordable mental health services. Psychiatric Nurse Practitioners (NPs) are capable of filling the gaps in the mental health services continuum as they are dually prepared to provide medication management and therapy. Public and private partners across the state of Delaware have voiced their desire to expand the workforce using Psychiatric NPs. The University of Delaware School of Nursing is positioned to update their masters in nursing program with a psychiatric concentration.

Recent changes in national certification requirements necessitate program revisions. The national certifying body for nursing (American Nurse Credentialing Center) has recently published new credentialing standards. Due to a change in accreditation standards, changes need to be made at the level of the concentration, not the specialization. The current specialization in Psychiatric Clinical Nurse Specialist no longer meets the requirements for certification or licensing as a Family Psychiatric/Mental Health Nurse Practitioner. The proposed addition of a concentration in Family Psychiatric/Mental Health Nurse Practitioner will ensure that graduates are eligible to sit for national certification exams and subsequently will be eligible for state licensure.

NOTE: This concentration (Family Psychiatric/Mental Health Nurse Practitioner) MUST be clearly reflected on student transcripts when applying for national certification and state licensure.

Program Requirements:

(Show the new or revised curriculum as it should appear in the Course Catalog. If this is a revision, be sure to indicate the changes being made to the current curriculum and include a side-by-side comparison of the credit distribution before and after the proposed change.)

The proposed curricular changes affect three related programs: the MSN program, the dual BSN-MSN program, and the post-masters certificate program. Changes need to be made across all three programs to ensure consistency.
