

NOTES FROM THE COUNCIL CHAIR

On behalf of the Council, I welcome all returning members and those who have just joined us. The beauty of an academic year is that there are beginnings and endings. Here we go!

As we begin the spring session, among our varied roster of 219 courses and 21 extracurricular activities, 50 of them are new this session, and, among our 233 instructors, 14 are new. Let us know if you would like to see a course added to the curriculum or, better yet, help us find someone to teach it. If you have a special interest or skill which you could share with the other members of Osher Lifelong Learning take heart and volunteer to teach -- our members are supportive and appreciative. Carol Bernard, Academic Coordinator, will be glad to discuss possibilities with you and answer your questions.

In addition to reacting to immediate needs and problems, part of the role of Council is to try to anticipate changes which might impact Osher Lifelong Learning, such as changing demographics, technological advances, new instructional techniques, or desired curriculum offerings. This is your program and we need and welcome your input; either by talking with a Council member (red stripe on name tag) or by putting a signed note in the suggestion box.

We are fortunate to have the excellent, and cheerful, help provided by the folks in the Office and the support staff, but in large part we rely on volunteers to provide the numerous aid which supports the efforts of the instructors and the chairs of the 30+ committees which are listed on Pages 2-3 of the catalog. As participants in this "learning cooperative" we all share responsibility for providing volunteer effort to enable this vast enterprise to continue to function. Are you volunteering? As always, we encourage you to introduce new members to the benefits of Lifelong Learning.

Osher Lifelong Learning is more than classes and volunteering. It's a chance to talk and share with fellow students and instructors. Arsht Hall is teeming with intelligent, curious and friendly people – maybe you'll find a new friend this spring.

PLEASE LET US HELP YOU!!

During registration, we have so many members who are very uncomfortable with listing their primary care physician on their application. This information can be lifesaving if a member is unconscious, and the nearest relative/friend is unavailable. The information is held confidentially under lock in the Office.

We had that happen to a wonderful man who has spent many years as an instructor, when he suddenly became unable to respond. We found him in the Lobby in a chair, and we immediately called his wife...the only relative in this area. When she didn't answer, we were able to call his doctor's office to inquire about any serious conditions or medication he was taking. With that knowledge given to the ambulance crew, off he went to the nearest hospital.

Without the doctor's contact, he would NEVER have been helped by the vital info from his physician, nearly as quickly as he was.

Please reconsider your reasons for not sharing that info on the Osher Lifelong Learning registration form.

PUBLIC SAFETY

To all new and returning Osher Lifelong Learning members, Welcome!

Some safety issues to remember:

- Please be aware that the campus speed limit is 10 MPH. This speed limit was set because of the large amount of pedestrian traffic throughout the campus. PLEASE, slow down!!
- Also, vehicles exiting the Student Services Lot (across from Arsht Hall) must stop and yield to foot and vehicle traffic on the main drive. I have observed a number of near collisions this past semester because of drivers not stopping to make sure that there was no oncoming traffic on the main drive. I would prefer not to start issuing UD Unsafe Operation citations with a $50 fine, because of your failure to drive safely and defensively.
- A reminder that the UD fine is $100 for failure to display proper tags or permits when parking in a handicap spot.

Let's all have a safe and enjoyable semester!

Your friendly UD constable

REPORTERS WANTED

Has your group or activity been left out of the newsletter? The newsletter is seeking members who will submit reports on all aspects of the Osher Lifelong Learning experience.

COMPUTERS! COMPUTERS! WIRELESS DEVICE REGISTRATION

If you have a wireless device such as a laptop, smart phone or iPad, etc. and you want wireless access to the University of Delaware network, you must first register your device with the university. To obtain wireless access at UD including Arsht Hall, members must have a UDeINet ID (University of Delaware User ID) and Password. Therefore, registration is a two-step process:

1. Obtain a University of Delaware USER ID and PASSWORD
2. Bring your wireless device to Arsht Hall and register it.

The form to obtain your USER ID and PASSWORD, along with instructions on how to register your device, can be picked up at the Reception Desk in the Lobby. The User ID and Password is issued in mid-October for the fall semester and mid-March for the spring semester; and you can pick up the registration instructions during this time period.

The registration instructions are straightforward to use. They include guidance on where to find help for those who require assistance.

The University Staff in the Office is unable to provide individual assistance due to the large increase in members with wireless devices.

INVITATION FROM THE DELAWARE ART MUSEUM

The Delaware Art Museum is celebrating 100 years of supporting the visual arts in its community. As part of this celebration a juried exhibition will be on view from Oct. 20, 2012 through Jan. 13, 2013. The exhibition will feature a variety of media—drawing, painting, sculpture, performance, video, and installation—and include artists living either within the State of Delaware or within 100 miles of the Museum. Further information is available at

NEW! PERFORMANCE FUND

Over the years, Osher Lifelong Learning at Arsht Hall has become a desirable venue for performing arts presentations, including music, theatre, and dance. Maybe you've stood in line to get a seat for a concert by the Serafin String Quartet, listened to jazz played by local artists, or seen the First State Ballet in action. These and similar performances are extremely popular, and they're free to members.

But these professional performers don't come for free. They earn their living by performing, and, with the exception of those associated with the University, we pay them to come. But as our regular annual budget gets squeezed by rising costs, it becomes more and more difficult to provide these wonderful "extras" to our programming. Recently the Council recognized this difficulty and voted to establish a separate Gift Fund to address the problem.

The new fund, called the Performance Fund, is designed to accept tax-deductible donations to support special arts programming at Arsht Hall during our regular classroom sessions. Programs may be presented during the Special Events lunch period on Wednesdays, as part of the Friday Lecture Series, or in the lobby or elsewhere at various times. Only programs that have been approved by the Council, upon the advice of a Performance Review Committee appointed by the Council Chair, will be eligible for Performance Fund support, and presentations must be open to all members (as seating permits). Money in the Performance Fund will be restricted and only available for the support of approved programs.

If you have enjoyed some of our wonderful arts performances in the past, you might consider making a tax-deductible contribution to the Performance Fund to provide for more of them. This is a donation that could benefit you personally as well as all your friends at the Institute. Please give it some thought as you review your charitable giving.

Between Spring and Fall Semesters

OLLI AT THE OCEAN

It's our new name for what was previously called ALLSTEL. OLLI at the OCEAN is an exciting learning experience in a wonderful location at Rehoboth Beach. This four-day, three-night enrichment program from Tuesday, May 29 to Friday, June 1 meets at the Brighton Suites Hotel near the boardwalk along the ocean. Besides the lecture series, the complete program includes lodging in a two-room, well-equipped suite, three full breakfasts, three buffet dinners and a daily social hour. The hotel offers free parking, an indoor pool, and an attractive sundeck. The lure of the many fine shops, the local lunch-time restaurants, and the Rehoboth outlets make this a wonderful beach experience.

Pick up the flyer and program details at the Reception Desk. This year we changed our sign-up process to first come first served... no more waiting to see if you've been selected by a lottery process.

So what else is new? Our assistant chair is Linda Forte from southern Delaware. Linda formerly ran Elderhostel Programs in Rehoboth and worked for Del Tech. She's a great addition and has brought many fresh ideas to our program. She'll be taking over as chair for OLLI at the OCEAN in 2013. We've added a program only option for those who have a beach residence and wish to attend our lecture series or for members of Osher Lifelong Learning Institutes in Lewes or in Dover. What we haven't changed is the quality of our facilities, food and presentations while still maintaining a minimal price increase.

For those who have not attended a previous ALLSTEL program, please talk with the many who have participated and get their positive feedback. A list of committee members is on the Flyer. Repeat attendance has suggested that OLLI at the OCEAN will be a great experience for both former and new attendees. Get your registration in early! Hope to see you there.

Chuck Hober,
Chair, OLLI at the OCEAN

DELAWARE SENIOR LEGAL HOTLINE

Delawareans 60 and older can receive free legal advice on a variety of issues through the new Delaware Senior Legal Hotline. Advice will be provided by either a Delaware Volunteer Legal Services staff attorney or volunteer attorneys. If the issue requires more than advice, the caller will be screened for free legal services and, if eligible, will be referred to other aid groups. There are no income requirements for the hotline. THIS CROWN JEWEL

This crown jewel that we call Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at the University of Delaware was the recipient of the 2011 Governor's Outstanding Volunteer Award for Education. Thanks to Ruth Flexman who submitted the nomination, 23 of our members gathered at the Dover Downs Hotel to celebrate the occasion and receive commendation for all the opportunities for intellectual development, cultural stimulation and personal growth that we provide for people age 50 and over. After we lined up on the stage to receive recognition and be photographed with Governor Jack Markell, I began to reflect upon the fullness of this occasion. A conversation at dinner prompted me to name the blessings of this place that has impacted the lives of so many members since our founding. But this is not the whole story, for newer sites in Lewes and Dover are beginning to blossom.

During the evening, leaders from the two newer sites revealed hopes and dreams for the fulfillment of a program like ours in Wilmington. However, our program is much more than courses and activities. We are committed women and men who bring the fullness of our life experiences to share with others. We discover delight in instructing, in activities that enrich our lives and add rewarding dimensions.

During Registration in January, I was delighted with the number of uncommitted members who signed up to volunteer as One Timers. This rather simple offering of time is often a first connection to the fullness of life here. I want everyone to know that each year offers surprises and affirmation of your contributions, for you have a chance to make a difference. Ultimately, your gifts and talents will add dimension to this extraordinary crown jewel. Just let your light shine. Come to play and dream.

Sign up at the Reception Desk today! It is never too late to look for new opportunities to serve, perhaps in ways that you never dreamed possible that day you registered.

It's time to celebrate! Osher Lifelong Learning Institute...What a gift!

Co-Chair, Volunteer Development

ABOUT THE COUNCIL

The Osher Lifelong Learning Institute at the University of Delaware in Wilmington is well established, and many of our members have been here for years. They know that we have a Council, but when those of us on the Council talk with many of those members, we find that they know little about what we do. We hope this article helps change that. If you have questions not answered here, we encourage you to ask any member of Council when you see the red ribbon on their name tag.

There are 15 elected members on the Council. Five members complete their three-year terms each year and five new ones are elected annually providing overlapping terms to ensure continuity. There are also a few non-voting (ex officio) Council positions: the University Coordinator, the immediate past Chair of Council, an appointed advisor to Council; a Council Secretary (if not an elected member of Council), and, if not an elected member of Council, a Finance Officer. Council is served by a Chair, plus three Vice-Chairs: Membership, Academics, and an Executive Vice-Chair.

The Council has established and supervises over 30 operating committees, which are listed in our catalog. Each elected member of Council is asked to chair at least one major committee or event; many volunteer for more than one activity. Dedication to the lifelong learning program is an essential element for our Council members, and many also are or have been instructors.

Council meets monthly, nine times a year. Meeting minutes (right back to our early operations in the 1980s) are available to our members in the Reading Room. This reflects the openness you should expect from a body such as ours.

Responsibilities of Council are described in operating procedures and by-laws, but a lot of our time is spent mixing with our more than 2100 members, trying to find ways to better serve them.

Here are some of our principal activities:

Council works with the University Coordinator and University staff to ensure that lifelong learning activities are coordinated with University operations such as Public Safety, Finance, Marketing, and Custodial and Maintenance Services.

Council establishes an annual operating budget based on costs of facilities management, equipment, personnel and other costs. It sets annual membership fees and fees for other programs to achieve a balanced budget. This requires forecasting membership numbers and costs.

Council supports and helps the recruitment of volunteers for the many tasks needed to operate our learning cooperative, including instructors, committee chairs, and various other programs.

Council oversees planning and providing the equipment our instructors and committees need, including technology.

In a program as large as ours, many unexpected needs arise, and the Council tries to address these and solve problems promptly. We hope you as a member are satisfied. If you have concerns, please let us know. Also, we have continuing needs for leaders in our various programs. If you are interested in serving in a leadership role at Osher Lifelong Learning, please contact any Council member or stop in the Office and leave your name and contact information so we can get back to you. We will greatly appreciate it.

Thank you.

NOMINEES FOR COUNCIL

The nominating committee, approved by Council, was comprised of Cathy Davey, Robert Faatz, Lynda Hastings, Enrique Hernandez, Lee Kaser, Hank Maier, Cathy Quirk and Nancy Wolfe along with Basil Maas (ex-officio) identified 52 potential nominees to be considered as new members of Council. Members of the committee personally contacted 28 of those nominees to determine interest in considering accepting a nomination. Those not contacted were either prior members of council, not members of Osher Lifelong Learning for two years or had not been volunteers working to advance our program. Ten persons expressed their interest and were interviewed by the committee on November 16 and 17. At the close of the interview process, the committee considered the resumes, Osher Lifelong Learning involvement, individual interviews and the needs of Council. On December 12, 2011, the Council voted to accept the nominations of Norwood Coleman, Sr., Jeanne Hanson, Jim Higgins, Pam Meitner, and Jeanne Short.

Our by-laws provide for “additional nominations from the membership-at-large.” “A standard form for each such nomination must be signed by the nominee and at least 25 members-at-large including the nominating member.” . . . This form can be obtained in the Office. “All nominees for Council... must agree that, if elected and so requested, they will serve as chair or vice-chair of one of the committees of Osher Lifelong Learning.” The term of office for Council members is three years. All members of Council are expected to attend no less than fifty percent of Council meetings each year.

Additional nominations may be submitted to the University Coordinator, Basil Maas by Friday, February 24, 2012. In the event that the slate of nominees is larger than the number of vacancies on Council, an election will be held during the month of March 2012. All members will be encouraged to participate in such an election.
