REFERRAL GUIDELINES for ACADEMIC HONEST VIOLATIONS

“All students must be honest and forthright in their academic studies. To falsify the results of one’s research, to steal the words or ideas of another, to cheat on an assignment, or to allow or assist another to commit these acts corrupts the educational process. Students are expected to do their own work and neither give nor receive unauthorized assistance. Any violation of this standard must be reported to the Office of Student Conduct” (http://www.udel.edu/stuguide).

Steps to follow when you suspect that a student has committed an act of academic dishonesty
1. Review the material to ensure that there is sufficient support for a charge of academic dishonesty.
2. Contact the Office of Student Conduct to determine the student’s disciplinary history and to identify the appropriate option for the case.
3. Choose an Option (A, B, or C). Refer to the chart below and consider the criteria for each option. In addition, please consider:
   - How extensive is the problem?
   - How much is the assignment/exam worth?
   - Is it a major or minor assignment?
   - What does your syllabus say about how you will file cases of alleged academic honesty policy violations with the Office of Student Conduct?
   - What would the faculty member of another class section choose?
   - What is your department’s policy/stance regarding academic dishonesty?
   - Do you need to consult with your supervisor/department chair?
4. Note that any student who has a prior history of academic dishonesty must be brought in under Option C.
5. For cases involving multiple students, you may choose a different option and/or academic penalty for each of the students.
6. Meet with the student to inform him/her of the pending case of academic dishonesty. Let the student know that the Office of Student Conduct will be in contact with him/her. You should continue to work with the student on course work.
7. Provide the Office of Student Conduct with a report of the incident (click here to access the online reporting form) in order to start the student conduct process. In addition to completing the form, please submit all supporting documents via e-mail, Campus Mail or hand-delivery. (In a plagiarism case, the case materials will ideally be a copy of the student’s work and a copy of the text or website that the student’s work matches. In a cheating case, the case materials will be a copy of each student’s work - the student getting the help as well as the person giving the help.) Please make every effort to provide the case materials within five (5) days of identifying the alleged violation.
8. If near the end of the term, assign the student an “I” grade until the case is resolved.

The Student Conduct Process
After all case materials arrive in the Office of Student Conduct, the student will be informed about the allegation, provided with a copy of the case materials along with the letter submitted by you, and a list of the recommended sanctions. If the student accepts responsibility for the violation and the recommended sanctions, the case is closed and sanctions applied. If the student contests the case, you will need to participate in an administrative hearing process and/or appeal. The Office of Student Conduct staff will review hearing and appeal procedures with you.

1. Consider the point value of the assignment as it relates to the course grading system.
2. Consider the goal of the assignment.
   - A teaching assignment should teach a new skill and allow a student to learn the process. Consider whether the violation is due to dishonesty or skill deficiency. Skill deficiency is not a student conduct violation and should be resolved in the classroom through remedial help.
   - A skill-building assignment assumes a student has the basic skill base and challenges him/her to further apply the skill.
   - A proficiency assignment allows a student to demonstrate mastery of a skill.
3. The student can choose to complete the Academic Integrity Seminar and have the “X” notation removed from his/her transcript and replaced with an “F” grade.
4. Faculty may recommend one of these, or they may be assigned as part of the overall sanctioning package. The Academic Honesty Awareness Program is a Sakai-based independent-study style intervention. The Academic Integrity Seminar is an 8-week in-class seminar. Reflective papers may be on a variety of topics.
5. The current incident as well as the student’s previous disciplinary record, if any, is reviewed in determining the appropriate disciplinary sanctions. If the student contests the case, the final decision regarding disciplinary sanctions is up to the hearing officer and/or the Appellate Board.
6. Applied when the disciplinary sanction is Deferred Suspension, Suspension or Expulsion.
