

Joining a class

Interwrite™ PRS<sup>RF</sup> Clickers by GTCO Calcomp

For University of Delaware Courses

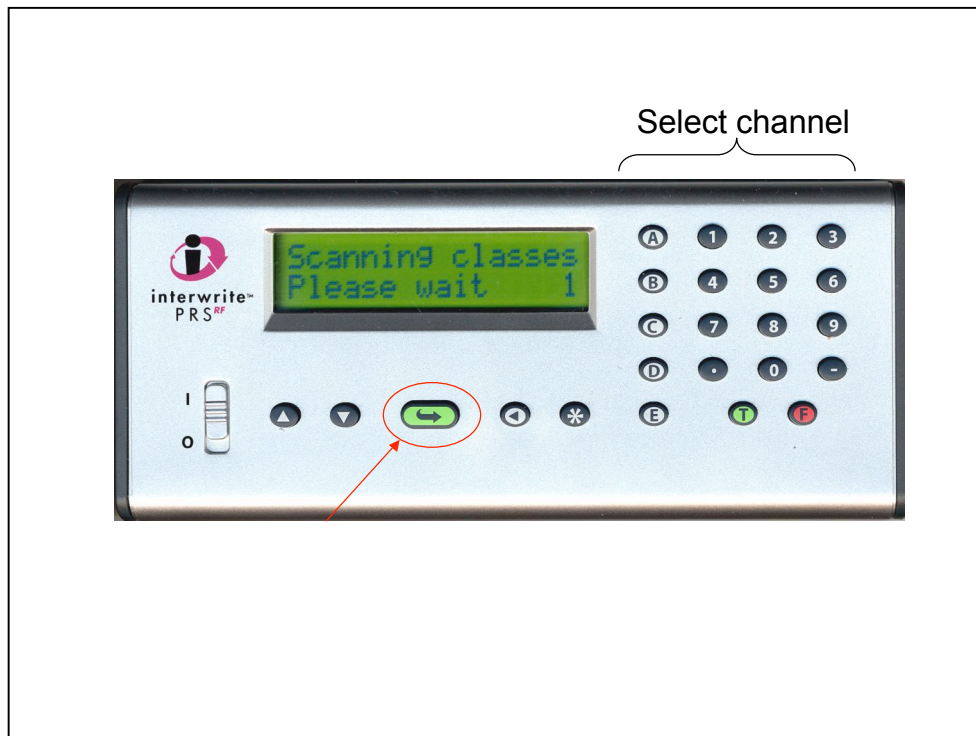

The Interwrite™ PRS<sup>RF</sup> by GTCO CalComp is the officially supported personal response system (PRS) or “clicker” on campus.

These instructions will step you through the process of joining a class. This will enable you to answer questions in the classroom with your clicker.

Once your instructor has informed you your class has been initiated, turn on your clicker.

The clicker will begin to scan the 26 available channels for your class. If your instructor has told you the channel of the class, you can speed up the process by pressing the appropriate channel letter or number and then press the green enter key.

If your instructor has not told you the channel, the autoscan will detect any PRS classes it can find. If more than 1 class is found, use the scroll keys to find your class. Then press the green enter key to join.

You should see the words “joining class” quickly flash across your display and then the answer mode screen appears. You are now ready to answer a question in class.
