Adjunct Faculty Positions, Department of English

The English Department seeks qualified instructors of English 110: Critical Reading and Writing. E110 is the only course required of all undergraduates at the University of Delaware. Its goals and outcomes are outlined at

Responsibilities
The successful applicant will be responsible for teaching a first-year composition course to non-majors. There is no standard syllabus for E110 so the faculty member will be responsible for developing their own syllabus and course materials. Adjunct faculty must be available for office hours outside of class. A willingness to utilize active learning strategies is desirable. Instructors are required to attend a one-day in-service training program at the beginning of both the fall and spring semesters.

Qualifications
Candidates should hold an MA in Rhetoric and Composition, English, or English Education. PhDs are preferred. Candidates should also have at least two years’ experience teaching academic writing at the college level.

Compensation
These are part-time, non-benefitted positions. Rate of pay is based on level of education and experience.

Applications
To apply, please send the following materials as a single PDF document to Aundrea Young at aundreay@udel.edu. Applications accepted on an ongoing basis as positions become available.

- A cover letter and CV or resume.
- A one-page outline of the course you would teach. This outline should be clearly related to the goals and outcomes of E110.
- A writing assignment that you would use in your course.

Equal Employment Opportunity
Employment offers will be conditioned upon successful completion of a criminal background check. A conviction will not necessarily exclude you from employment.

The University of Delaware is an Equal Opportunity Employer which encourages applications from Minority Group Members, Women, Individuals with Disabilities, and Veterans. The University’s Notice of Non-Discrimination can be found at
