In many of the above listed sites, HIV testing is free. However, you should check with the agency to be sure. Some testing sites offer confidential services, while others offer confidential and anonymous services. Please call to see what each testing site offers.

Wellspring: Student Wellness Program at the University of Delaware strongly encourages you to get tested now and to take appropriate measures to protect yourself from the transmission of HIV and other sexually transmitted infections by using condoms and other safer sex practices. To learn more about how to practice “safer sex,” request a Pow! program!
