

UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE
INSTITUTE FOR GLOBAL STUDIES

Dear Spring 2020 Study Abroad Students,

As you commence online coursework offered by your study abroad host institution, we wanted to make sure you are aware of the changes UD has made to academic enrollment regulations for this semester which allow for a modified pass/fail grading option. Normally, students on UD study abroad programs are not permitted to take courses on a pass/fail basis. However, given this semester's unusual circumstances, students who participated in spring study abroad programs may choose the pass/fail options according to UD's regulations for spring 2020. Because you are enrolled in UD courses, your choice whether to take a course pass/fail does not involve your host institution abroad. Simply follow the instructions in the FAQ if you would like to proceed with this option for any of your spring 2020 courses. We hope you are safe and well at home and wish you success with your online courses.
