

CHS Ongoing Conversations

Exploring White Privilege

What is the Goal of the Ongoing Conversations Series?

To continue to engage CHS employees and students on topics related to diversity, inclusion, and anti-racism

From our Second Conversation for Change...

Ground Rules for a Safe Space:

- Everyone is expected “to avoid language that is pejorative or perpetuates stereotypes about gender, age, race, religious affiliation, class, sexuality, national origin, dialect or disability (not an exhaustive list)”.
- Introduce yourself when you enter the breakout room, to help establish rapport
- Leave preconceived ideas at the door
- Be open to other perspectives
- Give everyone a turn to speak without interruption
- Avoid raising your voice and using an aggressive tone
- Respect one another
- Give people the benefit of the doubt
- Listen well, encourage clarification, mirror back to check understanding
- Don't be dismissive of others' feelings
- Establish a protocol for when people say something that isn't “PC” to correct them respectfully without affirming negative ideas

What is Privilege?

Video link here: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qeYpvV3eRhY>

What is Privilege?

- Unearned, unasked for, and often invisible benefits and advantages that are readily available to dominant identity groups
- Privilege is structural; you don't do anything for it
- The power of privilege is that it is rarely experienced as such

What is White Privilege?

- First coined by activist and scholar Peggy McIntosh, 1988 in "White Privilege: Unpacking the Invisible Knapsack"
- The unspoken advantage that the dominant, White culture has over people of color (black, indigenous, people of color, BIPOC)

Consider these Examples:

- If a traffic cop pulls me over or if the IRS audits my tax return, I can be sure I haven't been singled out because of my race.
- I am never asked to speak for all the people of my racial group.
- I can be sure that my children will be given curricular materials that testify to the existence of their race.
- If my day, week, or year is going badly, I need not ask of each negative episode or situation whether it has racial overtones.
- I can be sure that if I need legal or medical help, my race will not work against me.
- I can remain oblivious of the impact of health disparities and social inequities on people of color without any penalty.

Instructions for Breakout Groups (5 min/question)

Click “join” to enter your breakout group. Refer to the instructions in the calendar invite if you can’t remember the questions. You will be asked to report out to the larger group, so please take a few notes.

- 1) Consider your own identities. What privileges do you hold within the university setting?
- 1) Discuss the ways that White privilege manifests in various settings in the university (e.g., class, department meetings, lunch rooms or break settings, traveling across campus)
- 1) If you have observed specific examples of the benefits of White privilege for some, but not others, feel free to share.
